history

's a dark place, and specters emerge at each turn we can’t tell whether we have seen before elders insist we must always insist on their way.